MRS. REUBEN GRAY'S ALLEGED ASSERTION ABOUT HER HUSBAND.

The Damaging Story of a Young Man Named Hamilton—He Alleged That Mrs. Gray Asked Him to Buy Arsenic to Poison Her Husband—Dr. Newberry Brings Gray's Kidneys Here to Be Examined.

Investigation in the Gray case is not at an end by any means. The report of the initial test made by Dr. Luedeking at Washington U. in St. Louis on Wednesday was but a preliminary to the final examination. Yesterday evening Dr. Frank Newberry arrived from Fredericktown, having in charge the liver, kidneys, portion of the intestines and a part of the lungs, which he had taken from Gray's body on the receipt of the test. This morning he met Dr. Luedeking in the coroner's office at the Four Courts and turned over to him the parts. Dr. Luedeking will at once commence work on a second analysis, and hopes to be able to give a final report in the case by to-morrow night.

THE CASE CAUSES EXCITEMENT. Dr. Newberry says the whole country in the vicinity of Fredericktown is in a terrible state of excitement over the affair, and acknowledges that threats of violence to Gray's widow are heard on every side. The account of the investigation which led to the discovery of the evidence of crime varies but little from the one originally given. He said:

"Gray was a young Englishman and came to Madison County with considerable money, how much no one was ever able to ascertain. He bought a small farm, stocked it with the best that could be purchased in the vicinity and settled down to the quiet life no one seemed to prefer. Soon he married the daughter of a neighbor. The girl had not borne the best of reputations in the vicinity, but no one could deny anything wrong of her."

"The two lived unhappily together and frequently separated on account of the attachment which Mrs. Gray showed for one of her former lovers. Once she left him and, it is alleged, lived with the young man for several weeks in Indiana. Gray made up his mind to give her up and was making arrangements to dispose of his property, including one of the friends that he would go to Colorado and try mining for a while."

"Then he was taken sick. This was on July 23. I was called to attend him and found him suffering from what I considered a bilious attack. I prescribed for him and, after a few days, then his wife advised me not to come again but Gray insisted that I see him the following day. I think he even suspected that everything was not right. The next morning Mrs. Gray came on my way out to the place where I met Mrs. Gray. She told me her husband was much better and had sent her in to tell me I need not call. The same day, however, as I had returned from the convention a young farmer Hamilton came to see me."

"Doctor, I have a terrible story to tell you, but you must swear to keep it quiet for a few days."

"I told him to go ahead. Then he said that about ten days before he was approached by Mrs. Gray, who first asked him if she could trust him. He told her she could, and she said:

"Well, I want you to get me 10 cents worth of arsenic. Old Bob has lived longer than he ought to and I want to fix him. Dr. Newberry left some quinine capsules and I will fix him one and get him to take it."

"Hamilton said that he would do the job for several minutes. Mrs. Gray constructed his silence to mean consent and took some from her pocket and handed it to him. He dropped the money at her feet, however, and hurried away without an answer."

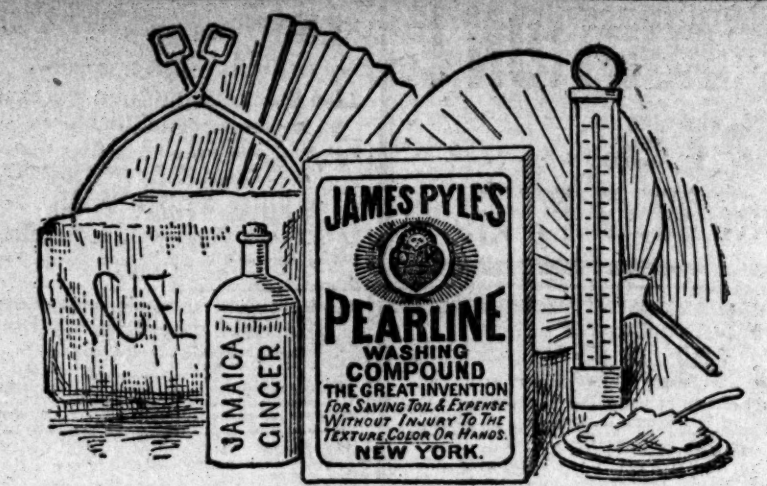

"As soon as the young man had told me this I advised him that it was best that he have witnesses to what he had said, as the woman might try to implicate him in the murder. Then we called a young jeweler who could be trusted, and Hamilton repeated the story to him."

LEARNED SHE BOUGHT ARSENIC. "Afterwards went to the drug store and learned that on the very morning I had met Mrs. Gray on the road she had purchased an ounce of arsenic. Probably she had gone in the house to start on and the supply had given out before she could get more for her purpose. The examination of the remains was at once commenced. The rest of the story you know. Hamilton was under arrest and protests her innocence."

"I think it will be very hard to implicate the young man alleged to have been Mrs. Gray's paramour in the murder. There is no doubt but that the two were on very intimate terms, and we have found one reliable witness who swears that he saw them talking together in the woods some time before Gray's sudden taking off. For my part I think the young fellow is too sharp to have anything to do with this job. I don't think he has yet been arrested."

Said Dr. Luedeking: "This second examination will be the last. There is no doubt as to the presence of arsenic in the stomach, it remained in that organ, however, it would not have caused death in so short a time. I shall now make tests to determine the quantity of the poison in the liver, kidneys and other organs. From a few tests compute the amount which passed into the general circulation."

Hot Weather Necessities.

Notice the large square package in the front rank. That's where it belongs—ask any woman who has used it. See what it does. It saves work, saves strength, saves health, time, and temper. It saves wear and tear, too—and that's money. Delicate summer clothes don't have to be rubbed and wringed when they're washed with Pearline. Everything is washed easily—and safely. Pearline doesn't do any more in warm weather than in cold, but you seem to need it more then. It's a necessity. But it's a luxury, as well. Try it in the bath, and you'll think so.

Beware of cheap imitations. Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES.

THE MINISTERS RETURNING FROM THEIR SUMMER VACATIONS.

The Trinity Church Excursion—The Feast of St. De Chantal, and How It Was Celebrated—Dr. Holland's Return—News of Hebrew Congregations—General Information of Interest Gathered in Religious Circles.

HE vacation season of the ministers is drawing to a close, and already the pastors are beginning to return to their pulpits. The members of the churches who for various reasons remained at home will be pleased to see their pastors back. During their absence many of the congregations were left in charge of young ministers, and in some cases theological students conducted the services. While this condition of affairs was gracefully accepted by the church goers, still there has been a longing on the part of most of them to have the regular pastors back to lead their congregations. According to there are many who rejoice because the vacation season is about over.

Archbishop Kenrick Indorsed. The Baltimore Mirror on indorsing the movement for the elevation of Archbishop Kenrick to the rank of Cardinal says: "The Archbishop is the oldest member of the American Catholic hierarchy. He has accomplished much for the church during his years of service. The priests and people will unite to commemorate fittingly his golden jubilee, and say that it is a very great privilege to have the Pope bestow the red hat upon the venerable Archbishop. Although on August 31 the Archbishop ended his 84th year on this earth, he is by no means superannuated. His see is one of the largest in the country, and he directs its affairs without the assistance of much work and possesses such wonderful facilities for one of his years that he is a credit to the American hierarchy." For these reasons, it is said, it is not in the least probable that the Pope may send another red hat to America."

Feast of St. De Chantal. The feast of the Lady St. De Chantal was appropriately observed yesterday at the convent of that name, 402 Washington avenue. Very impressive services in honor of the day were conducted by Venerable General Brady, Rev. Father Felix of the Passionist Order and Rev. Father Ward. Father Ward delivered the sermon. The observance of the day was made all the more impressive by the presence of Mrs. McLaughlin, a young postulant, who took the white veil and assumed the name of Sister Mary Agnes.

Successful Revival Meetings. The revival meetings at Trinity M. E. Church continue to attract large crowds nightly, and Rev. Nelsonheimer, the evangelist, has been congratulated on his success in bringing penitents forward. Last night Mr. Nelsonheimer preached on "The Prodigal Son" and the evening before on "Courage." His health seems to stand up well under the nervous strain to which he subjects it. The meetings will run several weeks.

Trinity Church Excursion. The ladies of the Trinity Church have secured the steamer Grand Republic for an excursion Saturday evening. The ladies promise to make the excursion the society event of the season. Good music will be furnished and excellent suppers will be served. The boat will leave at 8 p. m.

Religious Notes. The Salvation Army has been reinforced by a new company.

Deputy Sheriff Harding arrested John F. Weidholzer and locked him up at the Four Courts yesterday on a warrant charging him with embezzlement. A representative of the firm of Harker & Co., wholesale dealers in tinware at Collins and Biddle streets, in the prosecuting witness in the action. Weidholzer was a salesman for the house. When the warrant was issued several days ago the amount embezzled was fixed at $100. Since that time the examination of the defendant's books has proceeded and $400 is now missing.

HE SAVED HER LIFE.

A ST. LOUISIAN DISTINGUISHES HIMSELF IN THE ADIRONDACK REGION.

S. S. Bass, chairman of the Charity Board, and a young lady out of deep water at Old Forge, N. Y., and gets lionized in consequence. How it occurred.

Mr. Bass, the attorney and chairman of the Charity Board, fairly covered himself with glory some ten days ago at Old Forge in the heart of the Adirondack Mountain region, New York, and his friends who are familiar with the circumstances of his valiant deed have been showering congratulations on him since his return to the city yesterday morning. He rescued a young and handsome lady from both of terrors and danger, and was the lion among the Old Forge people during the balance of his stay. The young lady who owes her life to a large measure to Mr. Bass' coolness and presence of mind is a Miss Schubert of Philadelphia. She is prominently connected and is reported to be quite wealthy.

Mr. Bass left the city about three weeks ago with his family to visit the Adirondack Mountains. They were accompanied by Mr. Bass' oldest and most popular summer resort in that section. There they met Rev. Dr. Nicollis, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, and other St. Louisians. Mr. Bass went away to have a pleasant time, and he had it without meeting with any mishap. The third day of his stay, however, he was looking for an opportunity to distinguish himself when it presented itself he readily took advantage of it in a manner highly satisfactory to the young lady in question.

HOW IT HAPPENED. From all accounts it appears that Mr. Bass was standing on a wharfboat at a lake looking at a steam launch which had just moved out in the lake with a number of passengers, including Dr. Nicollis of this city. Mr. Bass had been conversing with them just before the launch started out in the lake. There were several ladies on the wharfboat, but Mr. Bass was the only one who remained. The launch, which was a small one, was being towed by a cable which was fastened to the wharfboat. As the launch moved out, the cable snapped, and the launch began to swing up and down, the movement being similar to that of a pendulum. The launch was about to strike the wharfboat when Mr. Bass saw the danger and, instead of striking the wharfboat, he slipped and fell into the water. He tried to grasp the edge of the wharfboat, but failed in this and fell back in the water. Mr. Bass saw her danger, and, running to the edge of the wharfboat, he threw a rope to her and, over a half-sitting, half-reeling position and raised her by the shoulders. A few seconds of tugging and pulling and the launch was safely on the wharfboat. The rescue of the young lady was witnessed by the passengers on the steamer and a crowd that had gathered about and, of course, there was some cheering and hand-clapping. The young lady was removed as quickly as possible to the hotel, where she soon revived, not much the worse for her involuntary bath.

It was not long before the news of the young lady's narrow escape from drowning generally knew it and about the resort at Old Forge at the hotel decided that there should be some celebration in honor of the event. Miss Schubert was a general favorite with all in the hotel. That evening an informal entertainment was given in the parlors at which Dr. Crosby of Louisville, N. Y., spoke of the event, and on behalf of the young lady who had been lifted out of the water so gracefully by Mr. Bass presented her rescuer with a pretty ornament made of ribbons in the shape of a speech bubble complimenting the St. Louis attorney.

It was not the only recognition Mr. Bass received. The morning after the rescue he was presented with a letter from the young lady who had been rescued, and a pretty bouquet of water lilies she had gathered herself. She thanked him profusely for the service he had rendered her, and said she would not soon forget it. Mr. Bass feels very proud of his record at Old Forge, and will keep the ribbons and lilies as mementoes of the pleasant time as experienced on his vacation.

At the last General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church the following figures were given as showing the standing of the church: 1,547 ordained ministers, 231,000 members, 1,000,000 adherents, and 1,000,000 converts. During last year, 4,075 by letters and 8,173 adults and 14,256 infants were baptized. The Sunday-schools number 74,000 members who contributed $20,100. The churches gave the sum of $20,000 all told. The property of the church is valued at $2,000,000.

FATAL ACCIDENT THIS MORNING ON THE MERCHANTS' BRIDGE RAILROAD WORK.

Pile-Driving Hammer Weighing 2,000 Pounds Falls Over Fifty Feet Onto a Man in a Pit—Death Instantaneous and Painless—Explanations as to How the Accident Happened.

A frightful accident occurred this morning at 8 o'clock at the corner of the Levee and Market streets. Men in the employ of the contracting firm of Taylor, Lutes & Co. were at work there driving piles for the bridge portion of the Merchants Bridge Terminal Railway Co., and a welder, on whom the men, was struck on the head by a 3,000-pound weight attached to the driver and crushed to death. Squares about 10x10 feet in area and 13 feet deep excavated and in these piles are driven in rows of three piles each are driven in one hole. The workmen were engaged to-day in driving these piles in one hole and they had already partly driven

Two piles the first row and were prepared to commence work on the third pile of iron when the accident occurred.

When the men saw the pile of iron, the foreman, James H. Rawson, and the assisting foremen, they had just moved the pile over from the second pile to above the first pile where the third was to be driven. The pile was in the pit removing the peg which held the place where the pile was to be driven. The pile was in the position where it could be placed in position. The other men were hauling over a log to the driver. The men were getting everything in readiness for the work when in some manner the pile fell from the top of the pile and fell like a shot into the pit. The men were not able to get out of the pit. The hammer, weighing 2,000 pounds and with the impetus of a fall of fifty feet, fell on the head and shoulders and crushed the head to the earth.

HE HAD NO PAIN

When the pile fell to the earth face downwards, the man was not hurt. The man was an instant on top of him by his fellow men. The man was on his feet and was an instant on top of him when they rushed to his aid.

to fly. A much safer plan would appear to have been to have the pile moved to the side of the pile and the hole had been dug out and the things were in readiness for the driver to get out. Some people think that the driver was really above the pile when the accident occurred, and that he was not in the hole. The driver of the pile to drive it down further. The second fall it missed and glanced and hit the workman. The workman said this story.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

Several Serious Accidents—A Theatrical Combination—Bellville News.

James Lynch, a 16-year-old boy who lives at 1111 East 12th street, was severely injured this morning in a peculiar way. The boy is employed at the Nelsons Beef Canning Works at the National Yards, and it was while on his way to work that he sustained the injury. He was standing over some object on a platform and fell over it. The fall did not injure a person in the least, but the boy unfortunately struck the ground with his head. He was taken to the hospital and he received the attention of a physician. The automatic hydraulic switches north of the May Flaks were delayed some time in consequence. It was a full hour before the cause of the delay was found. At the same time the switches could only be operated with crowbars and at a loss of considerable time to each train. The trouble was caused by the bursting of one of the water pipes.

CATTLE.—For the closing day of the week the market was active and prices steady. Good butchers' stock was in demand at $10.00 per cwt., day, not enough to supply the demand of the trade and for the week there has been an acceptable active trade in all kinds of cattle over the entire range being sold daily. While there has been sufficient arrivals of common cattle to keep up to the mark, it is not so with the better grades.

SERIOUS CUTTING AFFRAY.

A Dispute Over Dice Leads to Very Dangerous and Wounded.
Wm. Rowe, aged 31, living at 374 Howard street, and August Fuerst, 21, living at 1304 North Nineteenth street, were in Hagedorn's saloon on Twelfth and Wash streets yesterday afternoon. They shook dice for small sums and soon quarreled. Then they came to blows and fought violently, and Fuerst received a terrible cut in the abdomen. He was taken to the City Hospital, where he now lies in a decidedly dangerous condition. Rowe was arrested shortly after the fight. He was also injured and charged Fuerst with being the aggressor.

To Meet the Chief.

On Sunday evening, August 24, at 8 o'clock, a parade of all the Sons of Veterans camps in the city of St. Louis will be formed on the Twelfth street square in front of the Grant statue. The parade will be formed for the purpose of acting as a part of the escort to receive Gen. Abbott and his staff, who will visit the city that time. Every member of the order is expected to turn out in full uniform and be on time, so that the body can move at 6:30 sharp in time to meet the general train bearing the Commander-in-Chief of the Sons of Veterans, his staff and a number of Eastern notables. A notice of the arrangement has been sent to all of the posts and a good showing is promised.

A Burglar Arrested.

A young colored man named George King, formerly employed at the drug store at the corner of Ewing and Clark avenues, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of burglary. Since King left the drug store various articles have been stolen from it, and also from the barber's shop adjoining. On Sunday a pocket-book and about $1 in cash were stolen, and suspicion falling on King he was arrested and the pocket-book found in his possession. The thief got in by cutting a hole in the door near the hole.

Are You Going North or West?

If so, remember that the Burlington Route is the only road that has two fast express trains running through to St. Paul and Minneapolis daily, touching en route all important river cities in Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, and making the best line for the growing Northwest. It is the only road that runs solid through to Kansas City, St. Joseph and Denver daily, making the best line for all points in Northern Missouri, Nebraska, Colorado, Dakota and the Pacific coast. Pullman buffet sleeping cars on all trains, and free reclining chair cars on all Western trains.

For the traveler in pursuit of health, pleasure or business the Burlington Route offers unequalled advantages. Tickets officers 11 North Fourth street and Union Depot.

An Obstinate Tenant.

John Kessler has been occupying a house near the corner of Eleventh street and Park avenue, and an order of ejectment having been secured against him Constable Charles Boettger and two deputies proceeded yesterday afternoon to execute it. Kessler objected strongly and resisted the Constable, who was deserted by his deputies and rather badly beaten. He, however, succeeded in arresting Kessler and locked him up on a charge of resisting an officer while in discharge of his duties.

The Private Wires.

The decision of the Board of Directors of the Merchants' Exchange that the private wire must leave the floor by September 1 has not caused the owners of those wires any great anxiety. They have arranged to rent a room in the immediate vicinity of the Exchange rooms. It is claimed that the wire will not involve a delay of more than fifteen seconds on the average in the delivery of messages.

THE GAME LAWS OF MISSOURI, ILLINOIS AND NEIGHBORING STATES.

Rechercher Wins Two Games From St. Louis Yesterday—Competition of Jack Dempsey and Fitzsimmons—3-Year-Olds Sold—Best Aged Horses—Racing on Various Tracks—Sporting Matters in General.

Now that the shooting season is opening, numerous inquiries are commencing to come in from hunters concerning the game laws of Missouri, Illinois and neighboring States. A statement, therefore, of the game laws of the various States in this section, showing when each State permits the killing of the different classes of game, will prove very opportune at this time.

Arkansas—The game laws of the State of Arkansas, as revised by the last General Assembly, permit the killing of game as follows: Deer, August 1 to February 1; turkey, September 1 to May 1; prairie chicken, September 1 to February 1; quail, October 1 to March 1. Citizens of the State have the right to kill any wild or undomesticated animal upon their premises or destroy, or in the act of destroying, their crops. Game of no kind can be shipped out of the State. Non-residents are prohibited from killing game in the State.

Missouri—Deer, October 1 to February 1; turkey, September 1 to May 1; prairie chicken, August 15 to February 1; quail, October 1 to January 1; woodcock, July 1 to January 1; doves, meadow larks and plovers, August 1 to February 1. There is no closed season on water fowl of any kind in this State.

Illinois—Plumaged grouse or prairie chicken, September 1 to November 1; deer, wild turkey, September 1 to January 1; quail and ruffed grouse, pheasant or partridge, October 1 to December 1; woodcock, July 1 to September 1; wild duck, geese, brant, swan and other water fowl, September 1 to April 1. Kansas—Prairie chicken and ruffed grouse, September 1 to January 1; quail, November 1 to January 1. Iowa—Prairie chicken, September 1 to December 1; ruffed grouse, quail and wild turkey, October 1 to January 1; deer, November 1 to January 1; woodcock, July 1 to January 1; wild ducks, geese, brant, etc., August 15 to May 1.

Nebraska—Grouse, August 15 to February 1; quail and wild turkey, October to December; deer, elk, buffalo, antelope and mountain sheep, October 1 to January 1.

Foolish Betting.
From the New York Sun.

"Why are race-gamblers so glibly as to accept almost any odds a man cares to mark on his board about a favorite?" was the query of a well-known New York bookmaker, returning from Monmouth Park course, on Thursday last, with a cool $2,000 profit in his pockets as the result of his day's work.

This remark should set those who play the horses, whether for pleasure or profit, to figuring a trifle in future before they make their investments. The race in which the bookmaker referred to made most of his money was the handicap in which the 3-year-old colt Torino was called upon to give several handicappers a hard time. Torino was a lot of years and a beating. The public fell over each other to get the money on the 3-year-old as odds on him but had not anticipated a moment their good money would have remained in their pockets. The 3-year-old is the past ten years that could give a lot of weight to older horses in distances over a mile and a half. Luke Blackburn was one and Hanover in the zenith of his powers was another. Even good colts as Judge Morrow is, he was beaten at Weatherly while endeavoring to accomplish this task, and later on, at Monmouth Park, again suffered defeat while trying to do so. Then, when it is taken into consideration that Torino had won but one race this year, it will be seen that the talent were most foolishly in permitting themselves to be caught in a money trap. Torino was at a false price, but the bookmakers knew that, with his Lordship stake honors fresh upon him, he would be heavily supported, and when one of them ventured to post odds that was the signal for a rush. The other punters took the cue and added a few figures, and the harvest was begun. It will be easily remembered that Torino was last in the race, the winner, My Yellow Boy, on his previous race should have been 5 or 4 to 1, going every day at Monmouth. False odds is the rule every day at Monmouth.

Hearst's Stock Farms.
Senator Hearst has two farms in San Luis, Obispo County, the largest one being on San Simeon Bay. The smaller of the two is located a few miles from Cambria, and comprises 2,500 acres. The large ranch is devoted to the breeding of cattle and heavy horses, while the Cambria place is devoted to the raising of thoroughbreds and trotters. There the well-known stallions Surinam, Cheviot, Jim Brown and imported ones from England are located with about forty thoroughbred mares of selected strains of choice blood. This year twenty-three mares and colts, ten of them by Jim Brown, and seven by Cheviot, the imported Australian, and a full brother to Mr. Haggin's famous Sir Modred. There is one thing very peculiar about Jim Brown—he sets out his mares in the month of June, and there is not a colt in this year's crop of ten. They are all race horses, though, and good ones. They are all bred by Hearst, and a family resemblance, are easily handled, and have fine legs. Surinam will be remembered as the winner of the Tidal Stakes and Derby at the Blood Horse spring meeting in 1888. He was subsequently brought East and won a race, but was wronged and his training methods had to be retired. It is said that he has developed a wonderful sense of the horse and is a model of a sire, and his breeding insures him success in the stud, for he has a fine understanding of the horse and of the owner's requirements.

Money Lost in Forefeits.
The whims of fortune on the turf are as capricious and as variable as the wind. Take the Junior Champion Stakes, won by Strathmore, an ex-Instanter. In that race Green B. Morris had two nominations, Strathmore and Cerberus, yet he carried off the $25,000 prize. Byron McClelland had but one nomination, Belle McClelland, and a full brother to Cerberus, but he was not the millionaire banker's only entry by any means, as forfeits for ten colts and ten mares were paid. The forfeit money was used to pay the expenses of the race, and of that lot not one came to the post. The forfeits, amounting to more than $1,000, will figure up in stable expenses just the same as though the Brooklyn turfmen were having their worst of seasons this year. Senator Hearst's list embraces nine horses, and there are a dozen or more with five or six each.

The Stallion Race a Failure.
BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 21.—But five acceptable horses having been entered for the Balch $10,000 free for all stallion race, the race has been declared off, and a $5,000 prize for stallions in the 2:30 class will be substituted, to be trotted September 17.

Monmouth Park Meeting.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Senator Hearst's phone yesterday was the Delaware Handicap, the feature of the day's sport at Monmouth Park. Prince Royal did not start, owing to the heavy condition of the track, and Hopper was the favorite, though Rhos and other horses were well backed. Next Wednesday the 2:30 race will be started against the mile record. It will be a weight-for-age event and the association will add $5,000. The race will Scott Stratton and Tom Ramsey will have it out with each other to-morrow.

A train of Louisville excursionists will accompany the Louisville team on their trip to St. Louis.

Ramsey's love (7) for Louisville and their baseball team will crop out to-morrow at Sportsman's Park.

Jack Chapman, the Louisville manager, is in high state of present. He may leave St. Louis a little bit disgraced.

If St. Louis gets back into form the Colonsos will find that the Browns are not in line with the policy of the Eastern clubs.

Neal and Trout will probably prove an effective battery. The Rochesterers made all their runs yesterday after chances were offered to retire the side.

The Browns have signed another Interstate League player. It is Charles Miller, an outfielder, secured from the Evansville club, and he will play with St. Louis in the Louisville series.

President Day of the New York National League Club says he signed Ed Daily of the Brooklyn Association team under the impression that the Association clubs did not want him. If the Association wants Daily Day says they can have him.

Tommy McCarthy will probably appear at St. Louis to-morrow. Tommy is one of the many victims of Jack O'Brien, the Athletics' first baseman. McCarthy once collided with O'Brien, and was laid up nearly two months with a dislocated shoulderblade.

Safe, sure and always reliable. Laxative, purgative, and blood purifier. For the cure of all diseases of the bowels, and for the relief of all ailments of the stomach and liver.

Which prevailed so extensively last winter, left many persons with disorders of the blood from which they still suffer. In some this consists of an obstinate catarrh of the skin, or "turning of the skin," and consequent peevishness, while others suffer from rheumatic pains, especially in the back and limbs.

Many cases of Eczema or "Salt Rheum" can be cured directly to the source, and the cure is permanent. In all of the conditions above referred to there is no remedy which has been so universally successful as CHICHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS.

THE CACTUS BLOOD CURE.
